

Summer is Officially Over Sale... time to stock up for 2010!

When you visit the shop, you'll notice that most of our summer cotton fibers are offered at a greatly reduced price of 40% off. We've ordered much new winter fiber... wool, alpaca, llama, etc. and need to make room for our new arrivals. So, if you're a multi-project knitter ... that sounds much better than "unfocused" ... now is a good time to think about next spring. My spring 2009 project, a cute little Debbie Bliss short-sleeve cardigan, is still in the queue waiting for completion.

We have kits!

Is you're thinking about hats for the winter season or for holiday gift giving, we have two great Green Mountain Spinnery hats available in kits. The Melissa hat is made from Alpaca Elegance and the Stained Glass hat is made from Mountain Mohair and comes in two colorways.

If you're from out of town and would like to purchase a hat kit, just give us a call and we'll be happy to ship to you at no additional cost.

Other simple, yet beautiful gift ideas, include the Branching Out Scarf made from one skein of Silky Wool, with pattern free on Knitty.com and the luxurious mink/wool blend that comes in rich winter colors.

What's new?

Araucania Panguipulli ... 100% Merino, 193 yards, heavy weight worsted that knits quickly on a Size 10 needle. On the shelf, it's not much to look at but when it's knit up it shows off a beautiful variegated tweed pattern. Whitney is making a one-skein neck warmer and I'm working on a sweater that will soon be in the store as a sample.

Noro Kochoron ... if you love the Noro colorways that are a surprise a minute as you knit, you'll drool over the new Kochoron that is a luxurious hand-dyed blend of 50% wool, 20% silk, and 30% angora.

Helmet liners... 250 and counting! THANK YOU KNITTERS. I think that the efforts of Green Mountain Fibers' knitting friends and other groups around the state will outfit all 1700 troops scheduled to leave in December and January. Keep those helmet liners coming!

That's all for now. Stay tuned for November news as we prepare to celebrate our one-year anniversary on November 29th!

Happy knitting...
Kathleen
